Dr. Bouhon THE SUPREME EDELWEISS AMPOULES protect stem cells from oxidative stress for visibly smoother skin

In the pristine heights of the Alps, where the air is clear and nature is untouched, a plant thrives that has been admired for centuries for its extraordinary resilience and beauty: the edelweiss.

Hidden in the delicate flowers of this plant is a powerful secret:

the edelweiss extract. This natural wonder is at the heart of Dr. Bouhon's new power ampoule, which was developed together with the innovative power peptide PEPTIDOX[®], Hyaluron and the phytoextract from seven female plants to visibly smooth and revitalize the skin.

The edelweiss extract is not only a symbol of alpine beauty, but also a highly effective protective shield against premature skin aging:

- It protects the skin from saccharified collagen, a major cause of the loss of skin elasticity, and even reverses it.
- At the same time, it protects them from the effects of harmful environmental influences.
- It also strengthens the skin microbiome, the first line of defense against external influences, and thus promotes healthy and resilient skin.

Edelweiss Extract: The Power of Nature

Leontopodium Alpinum Flower/Leaf Extract (Alpine Edelweiss) contains a high proportion of Leontopodic Acid, which is known for its powerful antioxidant effect.

Protection against free radicals

Leontopodic acid powerfully protects the skin from free radicals and thus prevents oxidative stress, which is one of the main causes of premature skin aging. By reducing oxidative stress, the extract helps slow down premature aging and keep skin youthful and fresh.

Strengthening the skin barrier

Edelweiss extract stimulates several key genes and proteins responsible for protecting the epidermis. This strengthens the skin barrier and makes it more resistant to harmful environmental influences. The strong antioxidant, free radical scavenging and DNA-protecting properties of the extract optimally protect and regenerate the skin. Supporting the skin barrier increases the skin's resilience and preserves its natural balance, noticeably reducing skin sensitivity.

Protection against glycation

THE SUPREME EDELWEISS AMPOULES are also effective against glycation, a process in which sugars bind to proteins such as collagen and damage them. The edelweiss extract prevents and reverses glycation, reduces the formation of Advanced Glycation End-products (AGEs) and repairs the skin after glycation stress. This leads to detoxification of the skin and a significant improvement in skin structure.

Visible results: Goodbye wrinkles for rejuvenated skin

Application of our ampoules reduces the fine lines on the glabella (forehead wrinkles) three times better than a placebo. In addition, the edelweiss extract significantly increases the production of collagen I and V, the main building blocks for firm and smooth skin. This combination helps reduce lines and wrinkles with an anti-sagging effect on the V-shape and forehead, visibly rejuvenating the skin.

Power-Peptid PEPTIDOX®

PEPTIDOX® has a targeted effect on the skin structure, promotes collagen production and gives the skin youthful elasticity. The unique formula not only diminishes fine lines and wrinkles, but also provides an anti-sagging effect that tightens and defines skin contours. The skin relaxes, glows and is visually smoothed.

Hyaluronic acid for pure moisture

THE SUPREME EDELWEISS AMPOULES contain hyaluronic acid in the form of oligo-hyaluronic acid. This highly effective form penetrates deep into the layers of the skin and can bind moisture there, which plumps up the skin from the inside out. The intensive moisturization can visually reduce wrinkles and make the skin appear smoother and plumper. The result: deep hydration and a smooth, youthful radiance.

Phyto-complex of seven female plants

Another treasure of this unique formula is the phyto-extract from seven female plants.

The innovative complex of seven valuable plant extracts, known for their high content of phytoestrogens, helps to increase skin elasticity at the corners of the eyes. Phytoestrogens are natural compounds that are similar to human estrogens and can thus support collagen production. This ensures a visibly firmer and more youthful appearance. The natural power of the plants makes the eyes shine with new freshness.

Dr. Bouhon's Phyto-Complex: Black Cohosh, Red Clover, Chinese Jujube, Japanese Mountain Yam, Pomegranate, Gromwell, Poppy.

A new feeling of skin comfort

Dr. Bouhon's Edelweiss ampoules not only offer science-based benefits, but also a new level of protection and comfort. Three out of four consumers report a more pleasant skin feel and an ultimate feeling of skin comfort after use.

Science meets emotion

Thanks to the Dr. Bouhon THE SUPREME EDELWEISS AMPOULES, you can feel the purity and power of the Alps on your skin every day. This combination of nature and science makes the skin glow and gives it a youthful freshness. The transformative power of the edelweiss ampoules makes the skin shine with new vitality - for smoother, more radiant and youthfully fresh skin.

Application

- Shake the ampoule well before use.
- Align the marking point with the short end facing upwards, put the opening aid or a cosmetic tissue over the ampoule cap and boldly break it to the side.
- Drizzle the contents of the opened ampoule into your hand and gently pat into the skin.

For best results: Apply daily, especially to the areas of the face that are prone to expression lines and wrinkles (forehead, around the eyes and mouth). Then use Dr. Bouhon's usual care.

Note: Use externally only. Always apply the active ingredient concentrate to the hand first, never use the opened ampoule directly on the face or eye.
The opening aid can be reused as often as desired.
