

Growing up with a pastry chef as a father in Normandie, Charlotte Jullien has developed her senses from an early age. She has been introduced to the raw materials of perfumery such through exquisite pastries like macarons.

"Thanks to the love my father has for pastry, his curiosity to discover new ingredients and daring combinations", is what she says when you ask her where the passion for perfumery comes from.

During her studies at ISIPCA, she did a two years apprenticeship at Takasago. This experience confirmed her desire to become a perfumer. Full of motivation and ambition, she started her training to become a perfumer at Keva Amsterdam in 2017.
